Question

How can you meet the demand for aggressive wound care management?

Answer

Through the Visiting Nurse Association of the Inland Counties' Wound Management Program, many physicians, hospitals and managed care providers are finding ways to save money, demonstrate good outcomes and increase the quality of life for their acute and chronic wound patients.

The Visiting Nurse Association's Content-Validated Comprehensive Wound Prevention and Management Program has been successful in improving outcomes, increasing comfort, reducing costs and standardizing care. The VNAIC employs four Certified WOCN nurse specialists who supervise the program and provide staff education and consultation. The program includes:

- Identifying patients who are at risk for chronic wounds
- Making recommendations for preventative measures
- Suggesting cost saving treatment protocols and interventions
- Providing patient and caregiver education
